EDITORIAL FLINGS OF THIS THAT 'EN TOTHER

Another thing that retards the millennium is that the man who employs and the man who works usually begin by sizing each other up as a person strictly on the skin and squeeze, and one to be wallowed at every opportunity.

A newspaper headline says: "Whisky Cured Man Afflicted With Sleeping Sickness For Nine Weeks." This peculiar affliction will spread rapidly among those who would like to have a taste of the old snake-bite remedy that we used to have.

We disagree with those Paris fellows who insist that the laying off of thousands of railroad men was due to President Harding's Easter greeting. We can't believe that President Harding had any more to do with the laying off of the men than he had with the killing frosts that killed so much fruit in Kentucky.

California gave us the honey dew melon for breakfast. Now's the winter of our discontent made glorious summer by the son-of-a-gun in Colorado who promises a mountain dew watermelon, to be gulped down before breakfast. Why not raise alcoholic melons this year, instead of tobacco?

With the advent of Spring Paris housekeepers and business men are beginning to wonder what steps, if any, will be taken to abate the dust nuisance. A walk down Main street in the early morning is like a journey through a sand storm when the broom brigade gets busy sweeping off the pavements.

The home-building movement ought to assume respectable proportion in Paris. We need a little more "vine-and-fig tree" civilization here, and not so much electric button and steam heat flat living. Paris needs more small houses for small families. A good investment for local capitalists.

A Paris man who attended the Spring Style Show at the Grand Tuesday night remarked that everybody ought to buy a new suit of clothes after seeing the models displayed there. We like the idea. Some of the men are so shiny-seated that we can understand how they manage to keep in their chairs without using sandpaper cushions.

It is quite unnecessary for us to repeat here what a man says when he reaches his place of business in the morning and find he has left his glasses at home. But what he does say and think causes great joy and rejoicing in the abode of Satan, and some amusement in the office where he works.

We often think that, if Mr. Burleson had to be Postmaster General at all, he held that position of trust and responsibility at just the right period, in our commercial development, as probably the unavoidable delays saved not a few thoughtful small investors from getting in their applications for oil stocks until it was too late. Many Paris would-be investors owe Mr. Burleson a vote of thanks.

MILLERSBURG

—Mrs. A. B. Plummer and Foster Adams are improving nicely in Lexington, and hope to return home in a few days.

—Mrs. E. M. Ingels returned Thursday, after a several days' visit to relatives in Lexington, and is now among the sick.

—D. C. Clarke sold a few days ago a house and lot in Butler Additions, occupied by R. C. Bornar and family, to Mr. Bornar. Terms private.

—Mr. Dennis McMahon returned Thursday from St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington, where he had been under treatment for several weeks, somewhat improved.

—Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McMahon have returned from Lexington, where Mr. McMahon has been a patient at one of the hospitals for some time. He is greatly improved.

—The commencement exercises of the Millersburg High School will begin with the Junior and Senior reception on Friday evening, May 13, and will continue through May 20.

—Mrs. J. S. Mann received a message from Columbia, Mo., telling of the death there of her cousin, Mrs. Irwin Vivian. Mrs. Vivian was formerly Miss Wallace, and was a native of Millersburg.

—The next number of the Lyceum Course will be a lecture by H. W. Sears, at the Millersburg College auditorium on Tuesday, April 12. The sixth and last number will be given on Saturday, April 16, and will be furnished by the International Glee Club, at the High School gymnasium.

—The school lunch, begun a few weeks ago as an experiment, continues to be a success under the direction of the capable committee, Messdames John Hill, Pearl Hill, and Miss Lillian Bodkin. The main feature of the venture is the free luncheon served to a number of undernourished children. The services of the ladies of the Parent-Teachers' Association who have volunteered to help on these occasions is greatly appreciated.

—Prof. R. P. Green, of Frankfort, State High School Supervisor, recently paid an inspection visit to the local High School, resulting in his recommending the school for a place on the accredited list, thereby making it possible for a graduate from this school to enter any college without examination, and receiving full credit for all work done here.

Mr. Green stated: "As far as I know, this is the best opportunity for a High School in the State." His address in chapel, directed principally to the High School students, was one of the most inspiring they have yet heard. Visitors on the occasion were Dr. C. C. Fisher, R. M. Caldwell, County Superintendent J. B. Caywood, Messdames R. M. Caldwell, B. Frank Hensley and R. C. Bonar, Miss Lillian Bodkin and M. E. Pruitt.

—The protracted meeting which is in progress at the Methodist church, continues to draw large audiences. Evangelist Kendall is preaching powerful sermons every evening, and the people seem to be moved under the influence he wields. Rev. Lon D. Parker, who is in charge of the music has organized a well-trained choir of more than fifty voices. He makes you sing whether you want to or not without using any undue influence.

Sunday afternoon Evangelist Kendall delivered an address to the ladies of the community at the Methodist church, on the subject, "The Forbidden Fruit." At the same time Evangelist Parker conducted a service at the Presbyterian church to men only, subject "A Strong Quitter." There were large audiences at both churches, and the subjects were well handled. Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the Methodist church, Evangelist Parker organized a booster choir, which will meet every afternoon at the church about 3:30.

Evangelist Parker has also put on a Sunday School campaign, beginning with last Sunday morning, and every Sunday noted a gain in its attendance. On Saturday night the Boosters Choir will give an entertainment. On Sunday night the spacious auditorium and lecture room of the Methodist church was filled to overflowing, and a few were compelled to stand. The meeting will continue through the coming week at 7:30.

On next Sunday afternoon Evangelist Kendall will address the ladies at the Presbyterian church, subject, "Sour Grapes." At the same time Evangelist Parker will address the men at Methodist church. The music grows better every service. While evangelist Kendall grows stronger in his discourses. At the afternoon service Sunday at Presbyterian church a large number of men went forward with a promise to Evangelist Parker that they would try to abstain from the things he asked them to.

A physician predicts that the insaniary bath tub will follow the roller towel into the limbo of things that were. Perhaps, and before one person in ten has acquired the habit of bathing half at once as he says he bathes. Anyway, if the bath-tub has to go, we still have Stoner Creek for a resource.
